FOURTH SESSION FIRST COLONIAL PARLIAMENT, 5th WILLIAM IV.

*Honorable Gentlemen,
and Gentlemen.*

The Speech.

It is with much regret, I have been under the necessity of calling you together so soon after the very long Session in which you had been engaged, and at a period when, I am fully aware, your personal interests require your undivided attention, and which cannot but materially suffer by your absence from your respective homes.

The answer I have received to the memorials praying for pecuniary aid from the Imperial Parliament, which, at the request of the Council and the Assembly, I transmitted to His Majesty's Government, left me, however, no alternative but immediately to call you together, that the same may be laid before you, that you may be enabled to take the important subjects they embrace into your serious consideration—and that, should you deem it necessary to meet the exigencies of the Public Service by any further fiscal arrangements, you may have an opportunity of doing so at the time of the year when the imports will probably be more extensive than at a later period.

And to enable you to form an opinion of the probable amount of Revenue that will, under existing imposts, accrue for the year ending the 1st of April next, I shall direct a statement to be laid before you of the receipts of the Customs to the latest date it can be made up, and a statement of the amount collected during the previous year, to which will be attached the amount of the expenditure to be provided for up to the First of April next, under the authority of the Legislature during its last Session.

After which His Excellency the Governor was pleased to put an end to the Session by the following Speech:

Honorable Gentlemen,
and Gentlemen.

His Excellency's Speech at the prorogation.

I avail myself of the earliest opportunity that the public duties which rendered it indispensable to call you together will admit of, to permit you to return to your respective homes, from whence you cannot have been so long absent without incurring considerable personal inconvenience.

20th September, 1834.

SIR THOMAS JOHN COCHRANE, KNIGHT, Governor.Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the Assembly;

The arrangement you have made to meet the exigencies of the public service will, I hope, prove equal to your expectations; at the same time I shall use my best endeavours to avoid the necessity of recurring to the expedient which you have provided; and I trust, (unless some unforeseen emergency shall arise) that by a strict and rigorous economy I shall be able to do so, until you shall again be assembled in this place.

*Honorable Gentlemen,
and Gentlemen;*

It has been my painful duty to announce to you, that the disease known by the name of the Asiatic Cholera, has recently visited the neighbouring Province of Nova Scotia; and although every means will be resorted to, which, under Divine favor, may be deemed proper to exclude it from these shores; yet experience has proved, that in many other Countries no human means have at all times proved successful in that respect.

It is therefore my earnest recommendation to you that you do each, within the influence of your advice or controul, use your best endeavours to prepare for a calamity which we may not be able to avert—that you will enjoin cleanliness, where, I am afraid, that requisite to health and comfort is too much neglected—and that you will, by all means, impress upon the lower orders in your vicinity how essential temperance and sobriety are as a prevention to the approach of this fatal disease, or as a means of overcoming it when unhappily under its influence—and that in every Country which has unfortunately fallen under its scourge, inebriety and dissolute conduct, and the neglect of cleanly habits, have afforded by far the greater portion of victims to its desolating progress.

The Honorable the Speaker of the Legislative Council then said, it is His Excellency the Governor's will and pleasure that this Parliament be prorogued to Tuesday the Twenty-eighth day of October next, then to meet in this place—and this Parliament is prorogued accordingly.

Parliament prorogued.

20th January 1884

SIR THOMAS JOHN COCHRAN, Bart., Governor

Mr. Speaker, and Governor of the Colony

The arrangement you have made to have the public service bill, I hope you will find to your satisfaction; at the same time I shall be very glad to avoid the necessity of recurring to the expedient which you have proposed; and I shall be able to do so, until you shall advise me to the contrary.

Yours faithfully,
Wm. Halliday
Honorable Member, and
Mr. Speaker

It has been my painful duty to announce to you that the illness known by the name of the Asiatic Cholera, has recently visited the Colony, and that it has been spreading rapidly, and although every means will be resorted to, which under British Government is proper to exclude it from these shores; yet experience has proved that it is necessary to have means taken to prevent its introduction into the Colony.

It is therefore my earnest recommendation to you that you should within the shortest of your orders or commands, use your best endeavours to procure for a Colony which we may not be able to spare—that you will again of opinion, that I am sure, that you will be able to comply with the wishes of the people, and that you will be all means proper to be taken to prevent its introduction into the Colony, and that you will be all means proper to be taken to prevent its introduction into the Colony, and that you will be all means proper to be taken to prevent its introduction into the Colony.

The Honorable Mr. Speaker of the Legislative Council then said, in reply to the Governor's will and pleasure that the Commission be managed to finish the work which they are doing in this place—and the Commission is managed accordingly.
